Office of General Counsel
Federal Election Commission
999 E Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20463

MUR # 6065

Dear Sir or Madam:

I am writing to file a complaint against Political Base and Huffington Post. Both organizations are displaying my home address on their websites at <http://www.politicalbase.com/groups/manheim/13261/> and <http://andrea.huffingtonpost.com/neighbors.php?type=name&name=Wilson&name=Charisee> respectively. My home address is personally identifiable information that was obtained from the Federal Election Commission. I am an individual contributor and did not give permission for my home address to be displayed on their websites. While I do not mind my name, place of employment, and the contribution amount being displayed, I feel that it is completely unnecessary and puts my personal safety at risk to display my home address on these websites.

The respondents are Political Base and Huffington Post. My name and address are being used for commercial purposes in two ways: 1) displaying my home address makes me a prime prospect for all kinds of solicitations including cars, credit cards, magazine subscriptions, and vacation trips (as the court found in Federal Election Commission v. Political Contributions Data, 943 F2d 190, 197 (2d Cir. 1991)); 2) compiling a substantial amount of individual contributor data will attract a high number of visitors to the Political Base and Huffington Post websites, which will allow them to sell advertising and generate revenue (see Enclosure A). Enclosed is a copy of the website pages that display my home address (see Enclosure B, pp.5-6 and B, p.2 which also displays a Google Map of the exact location of my home). I obtained this information via a simple Google search on my first and last name: Charisee Wilson (see Enclosure C).

I am requesting that my street address be removed from these websites and from the reports that the FEC sends to all organizations requesting this information.

Sincerely,

Charisee C. Wilson

Sworn to and subscribed before me this 22nd day of August, 2008.

Political Base

Everything you need to know about the site

About Us Style Guide Conditions Privacy

Who built Political Base?

Early this summer, the five folks on your right started building PoliticalBase.com as a resource for people wanting to make informed decisions when casting their vote. This team has worked on previous web sites like CNET, ComiXware, CHOW, TV.com, Rhapsody, MP3.com and a few more.

What is Political Base?

Our hope is that Political Base will be your source for lively conversation and information on political issues, candidates and opinion. We have used publicly available data and resources, such as the FEC and YouTube videos to enhance the conversation. The rest of our content is contributed by our bloggers, community and moderators.

What purpose does Political Base serve?

- A resource for easy to find and understand answers on political candidates and issues.
- A place for engaging conversations about politics.
- A tool to be used in coordination with existing media to help voters make more informed voting decisions.
- To make it easier to see connections between candidates, fundraising, issues and media.

Do you plan to make money on Political Base?

We plan to do that through advertising some time in the future. When we do have advertising, we hope to have participation from both sides of an election or issue. Either way, we will not allow advertising to influence our moderation or blogging policies.

Is Political Base hiring?

We're always interested in working with talented people. Email us your resume (jobs_at_politicalbase_dot_com).

Shout Outs...

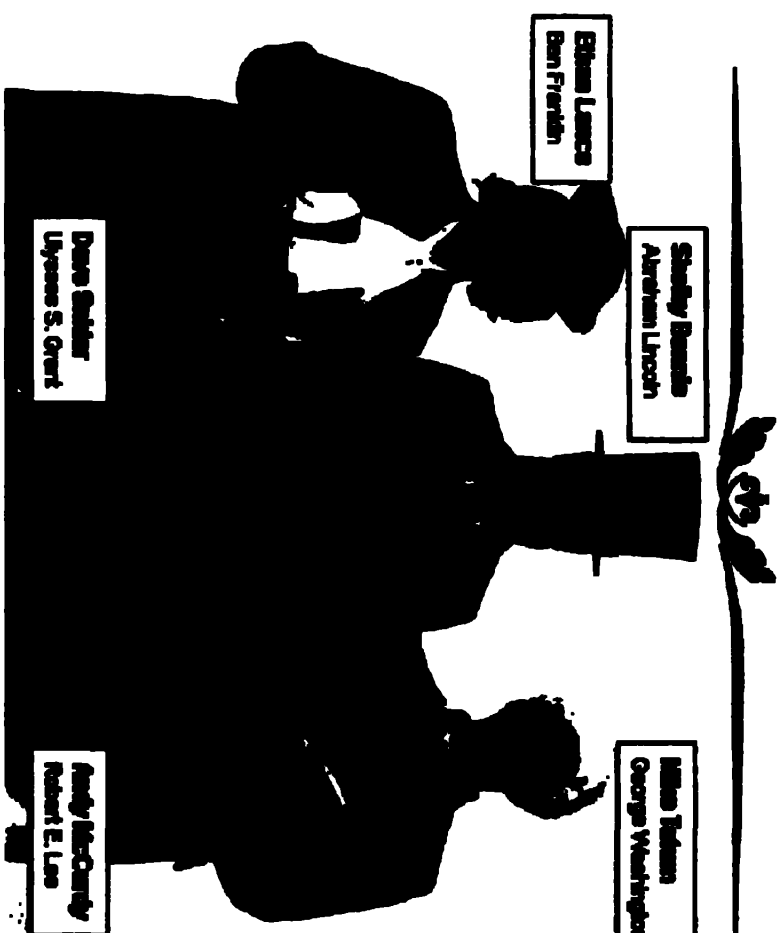

This site would not have existed without help/inspiration from the following groups and individuals.

Welcome to FundRace 2008.

Want to know if a celebrity is playing both sides of the fence? Whether that new guy you're seeing is actually a Republican or just dresses like one? If your boss maxed out at that fundraiser or got comped? Whether your neighbor's political involvement stops at that hideous lawn sign?

FundRace makes it easy to search by name or address to see which presidential candidates your friends, family, co-workers, and neighbors are contributing to. Or you can see if your favorite celebrity is putting their money where their mouth is.

FundRace gives you the technology to do what politicians and journalists have been doing for years: find out where the money's coming from, see who it's going to, and solve the mystery of why that crazy ex-roommate of yours is now the Ambassador to Turks and Caicos.

- Neighbor Search

Fundrace was originally created at Eyebeam.

Donate to Eyebeam. Support non-profit art and technology

All calculations are based on public records filed with the FEC of contributions by all individuals totaling more than $200 (and some totaling less than $200) to a single Republican or Democratic presidential campaign or national committee for the 2004 and 2008 election cycles.

FundRace is updated according to the reporting schedule set by the FEC. Public contribution data is geocoded using public U.S. Census Bureau data. Dynamic maps are powered by Google Maps.
